

IMEDCO Intraoperative MRI Shielded Suites

Traditional MRI applications have evolved to the point that they now include very specialized applications and settings. What is important to you as an architect, planner and user is that you can trust that your shielding vendor will be able to design and supply products that will work in these environments.

Automatic Double RF Door Systems

Interventional and Intraoperative suites are just one example of these specialized applications and settings. With over 6,500 MRI installations around the world, IMEDCO has the experience to provide the particular components that are critical when shielding these environments.

From unique RF Automatic Entry Doors and controls to structural support for special lighting, HVAC and other services, IMEDCO can provide what you need.
